Attention:  Sales Engineer

Gentlemen:

Reference is made to your letters dated 1 July and 3 July 1957, requesting approval to amend your Purchase Order 36BC-73900 with McMillan Industries, Incorporated, for ten (10) sets of pod assemblies.

In view of certain technical changes in the equipment you are hereby authorized to increase the price of Purchase Order 36BC-73900 by $2,303.26 from $28,540.44 to $30,843.70.

The approval granted above amends my letter to you dated 23 January 1957.

Your comments regarding Purchase Order 36BC-72912 with McMillan Industries, and the probable increase of approximately $400 thereto, have been noted and are concurred in.

Very truly yours,

Contracting Officer

SUBJECT: Contract FL-3011
Westinghouse Purchase Order 86BC-78900, Approval

REFERENCE (A): Your letter dated 28 January 1957
Re Subject

Dear Joe:

The referenced letter approved the subject purchase order to McMillan Industries, Incorporated, Ipswich, Massachusetts for ten (10) sets of pod assemblies (two required per system) for a total of $28,540.44. As a result of material and bonding technique changes, two sets of pods, serial 01 and 06, required replacement. Replacement costs of $1,160 for pod 01 and $1,059.26 for pod 06 have been negotiated with the subcontractor.

In accordance with Reference (A) and the subcontract article of the subject contract, approval is requested for this purchase order increase of $2,219.26, making a new purchase order total of $30,759.70.

For your further information, it is to be noted that this pod replacement may also require the procurement of two additional radomes since the ones previously ordered for pods 01 and 06 have been trimmed and fitted for these specific pods and may not be usable on the replacement pods. The purchase order with McMillan Industries for the radomes, purchase order 86BC-72912, may therefore be amended to to procure such additional radomes. Also, for additional insurance it is planned to now have McMillan fit the radomes to the pods at Air Arm after the pods are accepted. Although this will increase the radome purchase order by about $400. it is considered advisable since it will eliminate work which might be wasted if the pods are found to be defective.

Very truly yours,

Sales Engineer
